

You are hosting MVNOs and want to offer each of them the opportunity to launch their own ring back services.

We'll help you with that. Our system architecture enables you to run several services on the same platform. You will save money because you do not need an individual system for each MVNO.

Your MVNOs will feel as if they had their own service. They can have their own strategy, their own content, their own sales channels and their own user interfaces.
